

Simplify and streamline your stock valuation process using Vehicle Value Audit, a new product from Experian's Automotive division.

Stock valuation made easy

Establishing the true value of your current used vehicle stock has long been a time consuming task. The kind of job you might want to put off.

Now with Vehicle Value Audit you can compare the value you have assigned to a vehicle with the CAP equivalent valuation, allowing you to check your entire stock list in one straightforward report.

A simple report with sophisticated results

In addition to CAP valuations, this simple report will also establish the variance between the stand in value (SIV) of each vehicle and the current trade valuation. This facility will pinpoint any differences between the valuations, allowing you to make any adjustments immediately.

How does it work?

- Email your stock list to our dedicated team of experts. All they need in order to process your stock is the vehicle registration or Vehicle Identification Number (VIN), vehicle mileage and SIV.
- Experian matches the supplied data to the CAP valuation data. The variance is calculated for each vehicle with totals worked out for the complete stock list.
- The results report is returned on a 48 hour turnaround time to the nominated dealer location.

Reap the rewards

In addition to significant time savings over the current manual method of valuation, Vehicle Value Audit also offers increased reliability by removing the element of human error. Vehicle Value Audit allows you to control your vehicle stock valuations so you can manage the subsequent advertised sale prices centrally.
